

REVIEW OF INSIDE CDC NO 005

The 5th edition of Inside CDC is out. It is a full blend of articles that cut across the activities of the corporation. The GM editorializes on “A New Day Has Come”. This sets the tone of the magazine with a write up on the challenges faced in 2015, advances made and the strives to remain sustainable and profitable. This is further illustrated with the story on the evaluation meeting which held at the end of 2015 between the GM and CDC staff to evaluate the achievements of 2015 and agree on strategies for 2016. Read on the CDC becoming a member of the prestigious International Rubber Research Development Board (IRRDB) and the world of opportunities it offers the corporation. In this edition there is focus on the presidential decrees on the CDC statutes and its transformation. The General Manager granted an interview to the editor-in-chief of Inside CDC in which he analyses the different facets of the two decrees and their impact on the corporation. Also in this edition, the reader will have an interesting insight on the visits of the Ministers of Agriculture and Rural Development and Employment and Vocational Training to the CDC. Other interesting articles include CDC’s participation in the recently held South West Agro Pastoral show that held in Buea, CDC security guards who underwent training at the Moliwe Training Center and CDC workers admitted in the Bambili Regional College of Agriculture. They will graduate as Senior Agriculture Technicians. Find out other must reads by gleaning through the 32 pages of the corporate magazine. Enjoy your reading.
